Rensselaer Housekeeper Wins 1st-Prize N. F. C. C. S. Chevrolet

Winning tickets for the recent European Catholic Student Relief Drive, conducted by the local chapter of the N.F.C.C.S., were drawn after the St. Joseph-Valparaiso basketball game, March 3.

New Grads Will Find Fewer Jobs in 1949

Evanston, Ill.—(I. P.) . . . The employment of newly-graduated college men by the nation's large corporations seems to have reached a leveling-off period, Frank S. Endicott, director of Northwestern University's bureau of placement, declared here recently.

The information was derived, Dr. Endicott said, from a survey just completed of the personnel needs of 173 large companies. He gave his report to a conference of 100 personnel executives and two score university and college placement directors, meeting on this campus.

Not Serious

Dr. Endicott explained that the leveling-off in no way indicates that the hiring of college graduates is falling off seriously. More companies than ever before, especially the smaller concerns, now are seeking college graduates for their employee ranks, he said. Although the companies queried in the survey reported a decrease in the number of college graduates to be employed this year, no sharp drop is indicated, Dr. Endicott said.

There is a continued strong demand for engineers, general business trainees, and sales and accounting personnel. In 1948, the reporting companies hired approximately 10,000 new college graduates. They already see a need for this year of about 8,700.

The rapid postwar increase in the hiring of graduates was attributable to expansion programs in business and industry, he said, expansion which now is fairly complete. Current employment needs are largely those attributable to replacement, he pointed out.

Miss Lela Parks of Rensselaer was declared winner of the first-prize Chevrolet Sedan, and Mr. Delas Matthews, of nearby Mt. Ayr, claimed the second-prize Stromberg-Carlson radio phonograph.

Sell Winning Tickets

Fred Frisk and Wally Moore received $50 and $25 respectively for selling the winning tickets. Frisk sold the winning ducat on the car, while Moore was the salesman of the winning ticket on the radio-phonograph.

Most successful student ticket sellers were Sam Mondello, who sold 156 books to claim the $50 top-salesmanship award, and runner-up James Walsh whose sales earned him the second-prize, $25.

Officiating at the drawing were Judge Moses Leopold of the Jasper County Circuit Court, Rensselaer; the Rev. Alfred Zanolari, president of St. Joseph's; the Rev. Joseph Otte, school treasurer; and Miss Ruth Elley of Valparaiso University who picked the winning tickets.

Bird Visits Campus For Fourth Time; Greeted by Band

During the past month the Rev. John Baechle, local biology professor, has trapped and recorded four birds which had previously been banded by him.

The oldest of the four is a cardinal originally banded on Nov. 3, 1942, during Father Baechle's second year of banding. The cardinal has made four return visits since that time. Also returned was a robin banded on March 30, 1943, a screech owl banded on Jan. 25, 1948, and a morning dove banded on Apr. 21, 1948.

Father Baechle has banded more than 12,350 birds in the last eight years.

NFCCS Slates National Meet For May 4-8

Catholic college students from over the nation will convene at the Congress Hotel in Chicago May 4 to 8, the sixth national convention of its kind.

Most of the 209 Catholic colleges and universities enrolled in the National Federation of Catholic College Students, are expected to be represented. In a year of unusual Catholic college student activity, the congress is expected to draw more than 700 delegates, according to George McDonnell, senior at Loyola University of Chicago and general chairman of the convention.

McDonnell said the theme of the Sixth National Congress is "The Catholic College Student—A Call to the Lay Apostolate." In explanation, McDonnell said that "in a fight against those who exclude God, Catholic college students will be urged on to a more vigorous practice and defense of the Catholic Faith."

Five days of conventioning will be highlighted by speeches from members of the Catholic hierarchy, election caucuses and reports of achievement in student relief, decent literature, radio acceptability and other projects.

Comprising the Congress executive board with McDonnell are Charles Rollings, Loyola University, Chicago, arrangements; John Lynch, St. Joseph's College, publicity; Marjorie Boyd, Mundelein College, Chicago, secretarial assistance; and James Moore, Loyola University, Chicago, congress finance.

Club Drive Helps Student Aid Fund

Members of the Lake County Club are sponsoring the drawing of an all-wool blanket, carrying the college seal, on March 19 in the fieldhouse. The drawing will climax the extramural tournament to be held here.

Proceeds of the drive will be given to the St. Joseph's Alumni Foundation for aiding needy students.

Twins Born to Dina On St. Joe Campus

Twins, Pat and Patricia, were born recently on St. Joseph's campus. The catch—they're day-old calves, born to Dina, registered Holstein cow in the college herd. Dina, who weighs 1,300 pounds, has produced more than 16,000 pounds of milk during the past year. The St. Joseph herd yields 60 calves and approximately one set of twins annually.

Condolence . . .

The students and faculty of St. Joseph's extend deepest sympathy to Donald Quinn on the death of his father.

April 15 Deadline For All Entries

For the first time in the history of St. Joseph's College, the 1949 Promenade Queen will be chosen by a vote of the entire student body. The Prom, to be held in the fieldhouse May 14, will be highlighted by the first official crowning of the Queen.

St. Joe Annual Near Completion

The 1949 Phase, the campus yearbook, should be ready for distribution to the students before the end of May. All pictures and stories have been assembled.

Although to date, only a few of the engravings have trickled back from the engravers, these should be in within the next two weeks. This work is being done by the Indianapolis Engraving Co., Inc.

This year's book will be the sixth edition. The first publication appeared in 1941 and continued through 1943 before the war interrupted until 1947.

Senior Class Votes Memorial Plaque

A marble plaque with the names of 43 St. Joseph students killed in World War II will be given to the college by the 1949 graduating class, it was decided at a recent meeting.

The unveiling, blessing, and dedication of the plaque will take place June 12, following the Graduation Mass. The plaque will be erected in the vestibule of the college chapel.

Logic Texts Unsatisfactory; Fr. Hartman Writes New One

A textbook entitled "Fundamentals of Logic," written by the Rev. Sylvester Hartman, professor at St. Joseph's, has just been published by the B. Herder Book Company, St. Louis.

Experience in the classroom convinced Father Hartman that a large textbook required too many omissions in a brief course in Logic. For this reason he has put out a book of 270 pages, representing the wide reading on the subject of Logic, much personal thinking, and long teaching experience of the author.

Integration with Science

One objective of Father Hartman has been the integration of Logic, by means of numerous examples, with as many other college branches as possible. To combine science with the art of logic, a series of pertinent problems to be solved by the student has been added at the end of each chapter.

Before publication, the manuscript was submitted for criticism to several doctors of philosophy in this country, and it received favorable recommendations from each of them.

Instigated by STUFF, the idea of choosing a Queen by student vote was brought before the Junior Class and adopted before the close of the first semester. In previous years, the girl who was escorted by the Senior Class President automatically became Queen.

According to the plan adopted, entries may be submitted by members of the Junior and Senior Classes only. Each entry must be accompanied by one formal photograph, the name, and hometown of the person entered. No entry may be submitted later than April 15.

A board of judges from the Junior and Senior Classes will narrow the field of contestants to three finalists representing each class. Pictures and information on the six finalists will be published in the April 27 edition of STUFF. The official voting ballot will also appear in this edition.

Hall Ballot Boxes

Ballot boxes will be placed in each hall and official voting will take place from April 27 until May 4. The winner will be determined by the number of votes received and will be announced in the May 11 edition of STUFF. The only officially accepted ballot will be the one printed in STUFF.

If you are submitting a candidate, you are urged to submit your entry to your class judging board as soon as possible.

Back Your Council!

There has been much talk on the campus recently about what some students call lack of initiative on the part of the members of the Student Council. They say that the Council is an inactive body. But while criticizing the Council, these same men can give no reason for their own lack of spirit in backing the suggestions and policies of the Council.

A governing body can do nothing without the support of its constituents. The members of a group who elect certain of their number to represent them should be willing to get behind the chosen ones and help them keep the ball rolling. Teams are not teams unless the players cooperate with coaches and captains and with each other.

It would seem then that if students wish the Council which they themselves have chosen to accomplish things, they themselves must support and carry out the suggestions of the Council.

At the moment there is one situation which the Council feels is a bottleneck in the gaining of privileges and full faculty-student cooperation. It is this: Convocations and theatre programs are not being properly attended. At the last convocation, called by the Dean of Men, many students were conspicuous by their absence. Notice had been posted that all students were to attend. Also at programs in the College Theatre many have made themselves noticeable by their improper attire. It has been made plain on several occasions that the students are to attend such programs in proper attire. "Proper attire" has been defined as "shirts and ties, or at least sport shirt, and coat."

The Student Council has done all in its power to foster conformity to rules and regulations on the campus. It has reason to expect cooperation. In many instances where the Council seems to be at fault, the failing may be laid at the door of the student body as a whole.

Spur O' the Moment

BY RALPH L. CLARK, JR.

THIS NEWSPAPER STINKS!

During the past few weeks we've heard some remarks about STUFF—some good and some bad. We know we have to expect a certain amount of criticism from a certain few, and stated so in recent editions. But when the criticism is unconstructive with no basis to back it, the STUFF staff has a valid reason for getting hot behind the collar.

When we hear such a statement such as "STUFF actually stinks!"—well, it's pretty difficult to sit back and say, "Yes, we know. What would you suggest to improve it?"

Exactly two weeks ago today, on our regular staff meeting announcement in the chow hall, we stuck our necks out and asked for constructive criticism. Not one "Newspaper Critic" showed up for the meeting. And it wasn't the first time we laid our heads on the chopping block.

Before the pseudo-critic makes an "It Stinks!" statement, we suggest he take time out to discover the work entailed in putting out a newspaper... assignments, re-writing, proof reading, makeup, headline writing, and an evaluation of news on the part of the editors.

Our staff members have courses to prepare, exams to pass, and extra-curricular activities to participate in also. If we were getting paid for giving up our time... if we were experts in the field of journalism... and if we had the best of facilities to work with... then we might please a few more readers.

We'll make mistakes... so will Colonel McCormick! But we're trying to do our best with what we have. The STUFF staff is working on a strictly voluntary basis... for you. We're not getting paid. It's your paper also... you paid for it at the beginning of the year. Make your criticisms and suggestions... that's your privilege. But think it over first and make it constructive. That's STUFF you see on our masthead... not CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE.

Ides of March Bring Changes In College Life

BY UTAH CUMMINGS

Right around this time every year, people catch colds that will last all summer, Uncle Sam sends men out to find citizens who were too modest about their income reports, and Mother Earth pivots on her vernal equinox and swings into the good ol' time of drippy ice cream cones. The more rugged specimens of the genus homo, many go around without their coats and get sore throats, and young college boys start thinking about "going steady" with the girl back home.

The young hopeful Ty Cobbs go out on the field and throw baseballs around for two or three hours, and the next day there is a long line in the infirmary, waiting for alcohol shoulder rubdowns.

Everyone seems to wake up and want to do something. Take, for example, the case of Ulysses Quincy Jackson, one of the men of distinction on a local college campus. Ulysses was just a common ordinary student during the first semester of the school year. He went to class every day, studied his lessons, passed his exams, and didn't spend more than four or five hours a day in the nearby tavern.

Fired for Action

Then, with the Ides of March, there came a strange metamorphosis in our hero's makeup. He was fired with the desire to do something. Spring seemed to fill him with the urge for action. Now Ulysses was never one to repress his emotions and desires, so he became active.

He joined the baseball team, and practised each night. Then he decided to enlist his services in the local N.F.C.C.S. group. From there he went to the office of the campus newspaper, and joined the staff of both the paper and the yearbook. The track team and the glee club were next on his list, and then he decided he wanted to be an actor, so he signed with the campus dramatic club.

Next, fired by devotion from a Sunday sermon, he joined the Sanguinist Club. He offered his aid and became chairman of three school dances, and chief decorator for two more. The literary club beckoned, and he became a writer.

Needed Spare-Time Work

Then, in his spare time, Ulysses decided he needed a job, so he was soon a truck driver for a local coal company. On the side, he made model airplanes and painted pictures.

Well, Spring became completely sprung, and almost before he knew it, June was hard upon him. With it came the last part of the school year, and final exams. Ulysses began to wonder. What had happened? His school work had slipped miserably. Maybe he shouldn't have taken up basket weaving and pole vaulting.

He decided to start studying, and found that he didn't have the time for it. He quit his job and stopped making model airplanes. Even then he had no time for study. Ulysses got panicky. Exams rolled around, and he couldn't even make up a decent "pony" for them. He tried to copy during the tests, but was caught, and failed them all. He was doomed to another year in college. Oh, horrible fate!

But Ulysses Quincy Jackson learned his lesson. He profited by all his mistakes, and now he is trying to help other poor miscreants before they are doomed to where it's always double drill and no canteen. "If you can't do extra-curricular activities and still pass your courses," he says, "fail! The baseball team is worth it!"

BY HOWIE CUMMINGS

One day in the year 1888 a young fellow named Emil Berliner said he had a better idea for making records than putting them on the round cylinders that Tom Edison had invented. He was duly ridiculed and, of course, eventually proved right with his flat disc. As there was a snow storm in New York about then, this fact has tended to become obscure in the more dogeared history books. Understandably, there was not much system to the issuing of recordings and consequently, over the years certain records became scarce, and in keeping with an economic law, valuable. The term "record collector" had finally arrived and assumed a place in the laymen's lexicon.

In the past few years, due, I suppose, to the pressure of competition, companies have undertaken to make it somewhat easier on those unfortunates who wanted "hard-to-get" discs, and issued several represses. This is recognized as a commendable act by everyone but the fellow who used to determine how much a collector's item was worth. But we shall discount his feelings as being hardly equal to the pleasure of the many.

TOO MANY COMPANIES

I will say that it was much easier to locate a record a few years back when there were only six companies to choose from. Today, a company is often formed around a single performer, as, for example, the Bullet Recording Company's Francis Craig. This is unfortunate in at least one respect: that all the technique of the old, established companies is sacrificed for vulgar profit. So far this has inevitably led to faulty recordings.

Will someone tell me why companies do not include the recording date on a platter? It takes a re-pressing of proved classics like the wonderful stuff of Armstrong to rate a date on the label. If the date (Feb. 1928) were not stamped on the label of his Black and Blue and the flip, I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby, one would think it a brand new arrangement. This timeless quality makes it all the greater, I think, and emphasizes the additional prestige of any good recording.

SOAP BOX CUFF NOTES

The clasp that passes for profound thought in today's sweet tunes is certainly a sticky mess when compared to the ballad of two decades ago. Compare "Nature Boy" and its pseudo-world shaking discovery that "the greatest thing you'll ever learn is just to love and be loved..." with the unpretentious and beautiful (because of its simple honesty) "Ramona" and its "mission bells by a waterfall..." There are more... "One has my heart, the other has my name" ... a sordid reflection on the casual outlook which song writers and publishers take on the obvious influence they exert.

Gag Busters

BY BEECH

"Set 'em up, Jim." Breaking a precedent which has been in effect since the opening of the College Side restaurant, Jim Jona, owner and proprietor, flabber-gasted patrons March 3, by buying a round for the house... This was the night St. Joseph's defeated Valparaiso in an overtime basketball game... If someone had come in and started drawing a face on the floor, the evening would have been complete.

A fire partially destroyed one of the school's chicken coops situated just east of Drexel hall. It is intimated one of the young chicks was smoking in bed... Edward E. Taphorn, senior from Rockford, qualified as a volunteer fireman in the blaze. "Tap" dodging the erratic aim of "Nozzle-man" Eugene J. Weitzel of Springfield, manned a fire extinguisher, and proceeded to drown three chickens... By the time help arrived, the fiasco resembled a hose fight. This helped to relieve the monotony of the fire, which was as dull as going to the local barber shop to watch a few hair-cuts.

If you notice a beatific look on the faces of Bill "Steamboat" Kelly, William "The Fixer" Ciminelli, Fred Sieben, and Jim Mangin, it is the work of the new disciplinary board. These four gentlemen have been asked to attend morning services until Easter... Mass is at 6:45 a.m.

Spring baseball practice is underway, and from reports, Coach Jim Beane is wasting no time separating the sheep from the goats... For instance, there is Joe Moore, who looks more like a candidate for the infirmary, than for the team... First-day calisthenics do things to a man... We also have Joe McNamara, Indianapolis aspirant, who is another victim of battle fatigue... What price glory!

Do you remember the girl Bud Greif escorted to the Freshman dance? She gave a singing recital last week... Naturally the old operator attended. Bob Daly accompanied the "Rebel" to lend moral support... Too bad he couldn't lend money instead. Either the girls were hungry, or the fellows were broke because Joan, the prima donna, got stuck with the check.

More sage advice... "Early to rise, and early to bed, makes you healthy, but socially dead."

College Bookstores Plagued by Racket

Laramie, Wyo.—(I.P.)... Are college bookstore prices too high? According to E. O. Fuller, manager of the University of Wyoming bookstore, "Textbooks are too darned high. Students are being hijacked—but we can do nothing. We are forced to sell books at list price. If we do not, the publishers will not send the books to us."

One of the reasons why the average college bookstore cannot buy more second-hand books, a recent survey disclosed, is that teachers sometimes require a change of texts, without having exercised enough care to see that a change in the textbook is really necessary. Thus even though the discarded edition and the new edition are substantially the same, the older edition has become dead stock.

Text Changing

"Publishers have a racket," stated Fuller. "If they are going to have a new printing, they get the author to change one line so that the old edition cannot be used."

"Exhibition A—a new edition of a history book came out exactly the same as the old except for one-half page of outline map of the United States. The teacher refused to let the students buy the old one, of which the bookstore had several copies, because, 'When I get before a class and say, 'Turn to page 17 to look at the map, it won't be there and they'll laugh at me.'"

Campus clubs and organizations having news items for publication are invited to submit them to the STUFF office at any time. In this way, STUFF hopes to cooperate with local clubs in giving them publicity.

The Puma Grows...

BY TOM FEDEWA

Mea Culpa . . .

PRIOR to the beginning of basketball season, this department went out on a limb and predicted that the Puma cagers "should win at least 13 of their 22-game schedule" . . . Numerous campusites assailed yours truly for what they called "underestimating the strength of the Cardinal and Purple" and pointed out that St. Joe would romp home with more than a fair share of the pickin's . . . But, it seems that the inevitable fate of all prognosticators was as much in evidence in the Puma lair in November as it was in the camp of the Republican party during that same month . . . The Pumas started strong with four straight triumphs at the outset of the slate and it seemed to yours truly that a better-than-average season was in the offing. . . . The onslaught gradually faded, however, and dwindled into a below-par result of nine wins against 13 defeats . . . For OVER-estimating what materialized, into only a fair record, this reporter bows with a humble "mea culpa" and joins Gallup, Roper and the rest in their oblivion.

NOW, let's take a look at the record book . . . A quick glance and some simple mathematics will tell the whole story . . . In 22 contests the Pumas scored a grand total of 1,317 points, 53 short of their opponents' 1370 . . . Puma field goals accounted for 1,026 of the total, comparing favorably to 1,038 points scored by opposing cagers . . . By subtraction, we find only a slim marginal difference of 12 points in the goal department . . . What happened to the other 29 points? . . . Aye, there's the rub (apologies to Will Shakespeare) . . . Our answer is found in the free throw department . . . The Pumas tossed in 291 charity tosses out of 490 attempts for a .594 percentage while opponents were busy racking up a .697 on 332 out of 491 attempts . . . All of which seems to indicate that one should never underestimate the power of the free throw.

DEFINITELY not to be denied, however, is the fact that the Cosgrovemmen were in there fighting all the time . . . The spirit of competition was high . . . Press notices were favorable . . . The Valparaiso TORCH had this to say following the '48-'49 Valpo victory: " . . . the Crusaders scraped by St. Joe in probably the most nerve-racking evening of the basketball year." . . . And the return contest in the Collegeville fieldhouse was probably the most nerve-racking (at least from the standpoint of local fans) of the basketball year . . . The Ball State NEWS printed these words after the Cardinals had racked up all kinds of records in defeating the Pumas 85-71: "St. Joseph's had the scrappiest team to appear at Ball Gymnasium in many moons . . . People expected them to crack at any second, but they kept plugging away . . ."

Thought You'd Like to Know . . .

THAT Spring football drills opened March 2 as Coach Dick Scharf sent center and backfield aspirants through calisthenics . . . Tackles, guards and ends reported later in the week . . . Drills will last until April 9 . . . Next year's tentative schedule will be practically the same as the 1948 slate, with the addition of Canterbury . . . While Scharf is conducting grid practice, Jim Beane is handling the diamond crew . . . Beane began limbering up his charges Tuesday, March 8, with a s-t-i-f-f workout . . . Outlook for the team is promising, although the mound staff is weak . . . Only 11 veterans back . . . including Clarence Kuhn, last year's batting champ.

My Aching Back!

Diamond Crew Going Through Daily Workouts; Slate Listed

The 1949 edition of St. Joseph's baseball squad swung into rigid practice sessions Tuesday, March 8, in preparation for one of its toughest schedules in years. Fifty-two candidates, only 11 of whom are returning veterans, answered Assistant Coach Jim Beane's call.

Beane, who is handling the team while Coach Dick Scharf concerns himself with spring football practice, is currently running his charges through daily drills in the fieldhouse until weather permits outdoor workouts. Preliminary warm-ups consist of calisthenics and endurance running, patterned after training exercises used by a minor league outfit of which Beane was formerly a member.

Returnees Listed

Included in the group of veteran returnees are Cy Bohnney, outfielder and pitcher, Tom Lynch, a relief hurler in 1947, Don Tesmond, southpaw pitcher, Tom Quinn, catcher, Bud Greif, catcher, "Smokey" Malone, catcher, Clarence Kuhn, first baseman and last season's leading hitter, Angel Barrientos, second baseman, Jim Dolan, third baseman, Keller Riede, short stop, and Wally Moore, outfielder.

Beane pointed out last week that he has 12 potential mounds-men, but hesitated to say how many would make the grade. The Pumas are well stocked with infielders, knee-deep in almost every position. An almost completely new outfield will be fielded this season.

College athletic officials recently released a tentative baseball schedule which includes contests with Purdue and Chicago Universities. The slate, as yet incomplete, follows:

April 8	At Purdue
April 12	CHICAGO U.
April 23	At Chicago U.
April 27	WABASH
April 29	TAYLOR
May 3	At Ball State
May 4	At Wabash
May 11	At Valparaiso
May 14	At Indiana State
May 17	BALL STATE
May 18	VALPARAISO
May 27	INDIANA STATE

Games with Evansville, Louisville, and Dayton are being considered, but have not yet been scheduled.

Canterbury Added to Puma '49 Grid Slate

St. Joseph's 1949 football schedule, released recently by the athletic department, lists nine contests, four at home and five away.

The slate, essentially the same as in 1948 with the exception of Canterbury, follows:

Sept. 7	At Louisville
Sept. 24	At Ball State
Oct. 1	EASTERN ILLINOIS
Oct. 8	VALPARAISO
Oct. 16	LORAS
Oct. 23	At St. Ambrose
Oct. 30	At St. Norbert
Nov. 5	At Indiana State
Nov. 12	CANTERBURY

Chuck Connects!

Surrounded by four Valpo opponents, Chuck Barton takes the only alternative and goes high into the air to dump in a bucket. The Pumas won the contest, 80-77, in a hair-raising overtime period.

Scoring Honors Go To Ray Patterson

Ray Patterson, junior from Logansport, Ind., captured St. Joseph's team scoring honors for the second straight season, finishing with a total of 261 points in 22 contests for an 11.9 point average per game. Captain and guard of the Puma quintet, Patterson bettered his 1947-'48 mark of 242 by 19 points.

Second place honors went to Jack Dwyer, Montgomery, Ind., freshman, who dropped in a total of 204 points from his pivot position, an average of 9.3 per game. Bill Krodel, six-foot, five inch forward from Jasper, followed with an 8.8 average and a total of 194 points.

Single High Game

Individual game honors went to George Peters, sophomore guard, who chalked up 23 points in the Feb. 13 Loras encounter. Peters also grabbed the cumulative free throw title with a .690 percentage, scoring 40 out of 58 attempts.

The entire 1948-'49 Puma squad will be back in action next year.

RAY PATTERSON

Two varsity members, Larry Weinbrod and Ray O'Donnell, were lost by transfer at mid-semester, but graduation losses will be nil.

Paddy's Pigs Defeat Trotters To Capture League Crown

BY JOE MOORE

Paddy's Pigs captured the Intramural basketball championship Thursday night, March 9, as they downed the champions of the "B" division, the Campus Trotters, 49-31. The victory qualifies the Pigs for the Extramural tournament to be held here March 19.

The Pigs advanced to the championship bracket by subduing the J Boys, 32-26. They captured the first-half of the league while the J Boys captured the second half thereby necessitating a play-off.

Pumas Thump Valpo 80-77 in Season Finale

BY BILL FOX

Closing out their 1948-'49 slate in impressive fashion, St. Joseph's "up-and-down" basketball team outbattled their ancient rivals from Valparaiso U. 80-77 in a vigorously contested and well played overtime fray March 3 in the college fieldhouse. The locals proved once again that they are capable of playing winning basketball in chalking up their ninth success of the season against 13 losses.

The victors were led once again by their two top-flight guards, Ray Patterson and George Peters, who between them, tallied half of the 80 points and turned in sparkling floor performances. Peters, a veritable ball of fire since he gained a starting position at mid-season, bagged 21 points on six fielders and nine gift throws. Patterson abandoned his trademarked one-hander in favor of driving close-in attempts and dumped in 19. The other three members of the starting five all topped 10. Bill Krodel slipped in 12, Jack Dwyer 11, and Chuck Barton 10.

Schroer High

Bill Schroer was the high man for the Crusaders with 20. Bob Metcalf, leading Valpo point-getter this season, contributed 15. Veteran Ted Bean enacted one of the finest floor roles seen on the local hardwood in quite a spell and definitely kept his mates in the running with his generalship. He scored 13 points.

In front 40-36 after a swift and furious first half, the Pumas remained ahead by from two to six points most of the wild second period, but in the final two minutes Valpo, with Bean at his best, shoved the tilt into a 68-68 knot. Chuck Barton lifted the Cardinal and Purple to 70-68 lead, but with three seconds left Bill Schroer forced the overtime with a sleeper goal.

Overtime

The extra period was as tension-jammed as the regulation contest until the home forces snared a six-point margin with a minute to go in the five minute session. The final buzzer ended Valpo's hopes.

St. Joe actually won its triumph from the free throw line, making good on 26 attempts to the Crusader's 17. Valparaiso, who gained a 49-48 win in a previous game this season, outscored the Pumas 30-27 from the field.

SYCAMORES TRAMPLE PUMAS

St. Joseph's Pumas gave mighty Indiana State a good deal of trouble for 20 minutes Feb. 23 in Terre Haute, but wearied in the second period and succumbed to the fast moving and keen-eyed Sycamores, 89-57. It was the sec-

SPEAKS AT BANQUET

Dick Scharf, St. Joe football and baseball mentor, was the principal speaker at the Decatur Catholic High athletic banquet held Feb. 28 in Decatur, Ind. The Decatur High Commodores are coached by Dave Terveer, a 1948 graduate from St. Joseph's.

Local Shakespeare Instructor Prefers British College Life

BY DON DE LAVE

"If faced with the choice of an education in England or in the United States, I believe I would select the former," remarked Mr. Edward Cummings, college English instructor. Mr. Cummings has formulated these opinions concerning English versus American education from a two-year post-graduate study at the University of Bristol in England after his discharge from the Army Engineering Corps in Europe.

Born in Oklahoma City, Mr. Cummings spent his childhood in various sections of the Midwest, finally settling in Iowa. Having entered the University of Notre Dame in 1939, he received his B.A. in English in 1942. He plans to receive his M.A. from Bristol.

English Setup

In the fall of 1945, he was sent to Bristol in an Army Rehabilitation scheme. Here, Mr. Cummings found the English educational setup wholly different from the American plan. He said that the principal difference was that England's training is more specialized. One interesting item that may perhaps incline American students to pack their bags for England, was the fact that during the three-year period of training for an A.B. degree, no exams are given. If the final exam is passed the degree is awarded.

"It is possible," added Mr. Cummings, "to receive a degree without attending a single class during the three-year period. The cut system is unknown at Bristol."

No Questions Asked

Remarkably enough, Mr. Cummings stated that during his entire stay at Bristol, not one question was asked in class. Classes are strictly lecture, with little personal contact between teacher and student. "I feel," he continued, "that in spite of this, I would have done better by going to undergraduate school there." Also, reports are not given out to the parents or the student.

A fact that is not appreciated by the American students, he said, is that the English scholar is terrifically interested in athletics. Cricket, rugby, soccer, racing and many other sports keep the typical student occupied during his recreational hours. Socials are quite common to the campuses. Not a week passes but that a dance is presented by one or the other group in the university.

Campus View Book Rolls Off Presses

Completion of a new view book, with pictures of campus buildings and shots of various school activities, was announced recently by Mr. Richard Scheiber, local Director of Publicity.

Mr. Scheiber said that the book's purpose is to give prospective students a clear picture of St. Joseph's and a definite idea of life at the school.

Students interested in obtaining a copy of the view book may get it at the Publication Office.

and loss of the season for the Pumas at the hands of the State quintet which is currently participating in the NAIB tournament in Kansas City.

Both squads were "hot" in the first half, hitting an over par percentage of shots from the field. The Pumas offensive during the initial stanza was guided by George Peters and Ray Patterson. Peters wished 10 of his 16 points in the first half while Patterson dropped in nine of his evening's total of 12. The Sycamores led at halftime only 43-39.

Gap Lengthened

The teachers retained their accuracy in the final period and began lengthening the gap between them and their purple-clad opponents. The tiring Pumas could not locate the target, and unable to maintain the pace, dropped from the running. Coach John Longfellow of the Staters substituted freely during the final 10 minutes of the encounter.

Bob Royer, playing his final game before the home fans, performed admirably from the floor plus leading the Sycamore scorers with 18 points. Duane Klueh, foremost State point maker, was limited to four field goals, but supplemented these with eight free tosses to finish with 16.

Volleyball

Play in the Intramural Volleyball league opened on March 8. The winner of the league will represent St. Joseph's in the extra-mural tournament of the Midlands Conference.

Volleyball was to have been held on an elimination basis, but due to the enthusiasm shown in the sport, Fred Jones decided upon a league. Each team will play one round, the winner being eligible for tournament competition.

Three teams are deadlocked for first place at present, the Bulls of Drexel hall, the Blitzkriegs of Noll, and the Ragged Strangers of East Seifert. The Bulls and Blitzkriegs have identical records of two wins against no losses, while the Strangers have registered one win against no losses, having played one less game.
